ViaSat may revise this Policy from time to time without notice by posting an updated version of this document on www.wildblue.com, exede.com, exede.net or any successor websites. All revised versions of this Policy are effective immediately upon posting. In the event of a conflict between any subscriber or customer agreement and this Policy, the terms of this Policy shall govern.

Electronic Mail

ViaSat's email services are provided through Google and are subject to Google's terms and conditions. ViaSat does not store or save any emails, email accounts or instant messages. ViaSat is not responsible for forwarding e-mail sent to any account that has been suspended or terminated. In the event that ViaSat believes in its sole discretion that any subscriber name, account name, or e-mail address (collectively, an "Identifier") on the Service may be used for, or is being used for, any improper or illegal purpose, ViaSat (i) reserves the right to block access to and prevent the use of any such Identifier and (ii) may at any time require any customer to change his or her Identifier. In addition, ViaSat may at any time reserve any Identifier on the Service for ViaSat's own purposes.

Network, Bandwidth, Data Storage and Other Limitations

You may only access and use the Service with a dynamic Internet Protocol ("IP") address that adheres to the dynamic host configuration protocol ("DHCP"). You may not access or use the Service with a static IP address or use any protocol other than DHCP unless you are subject to a Service plan that expressly permits otherwise.

Exede Voice

ViaSat's Exede Voice Service is a residential interconnected VoIP service. The Exede Voice Service is designed to process and deliver voice service typical of a residential customer's calling patterns. It is ViaSat's goal to deliver high-quality, reliable voice service at an affordable price. As a result, ViaSat will look for calling patterns that are indicative of non-residential use or violations of this Policy once a customer reaches 3,000 minutes per month of VoIP usage. This amount of usage is significantly higher than customary home usage and only a limited percentage of customers will reach this threshold.

When an Exede Voice account reaches 3,000 minutes in a month, ViaSat reserves the right to review calling traffic patterns and volumes to identify, among other things: (i) the relative portion of in-state, out-of-state, or international calling destinations; (ii) excessive calls to the same destination telephone number, indicative of an automated call-forwarding device; (iii) excessive inbound calls, indicative of business use, or (iv) any other data or statistics indicative of a violation of this Policy. ViaSat will not listen to the actual content of your Exede Voice calls. If ViaSat's review reveals a violation of this Policy, ViaSat reserves the right to immediately suspend or terminate your Services with or without notice.

Copyright Infringement

ViaSat is committed to complying with U.S. copyright and related laws, and requires all customers and users of the Service to comply with these laws. Owners of copyrighted works may take advantage of certain provisions of the Digital Millennium Copyright Act of 1998 (the "DMCA") to report alleged infringements. In accordance with the DMCA and other applicable laws, it is ViaSat's policy to reserve the right to terminate the Service(s) of any user who infringes upon the intellectual property rights of another, including repeat infringers, or who ViaSat believes, in its sole discretion, is infringing upon such rights.

Copyright owners may report alleged infringements of their works that are accessed through the Service by sending ViaSat's authorized agent a notification of claimed infringement that satisfies the requirements of the DMCA. Upon ViaSat's receipt of a satisfactory notice of claimed infringement, ViaSat shall notify the user associated with the alleged infringement. If the affected customer or user believes in good faith that the allegedly infringing works have been removed or blocked by mistake or misidentification, then that person may send a counter-notification to ViaSat. Upon ViaSat's receipt of a counter-notification that satisfies the requirements of DMCA, ViaSat will provide a copy of the counter-notification to the person who sent the original notification of claimed infringement and will follow the DMCA's procedures with respect to a counter-notification. In all events, ViaSat will not be a party to any dispute or lawsuit regarding alleged copyright infringement.

Copyright owners may send ViaSat a notification of claimed infringement to report any alleged infringement of their works to:

Copyright owners may submit a notification of claimed infringement to ViaSat in a format that satisfies the requirements of Section 512(c)(3) of the U.S. Copyright Act. Under the DMCA, anyone who knowingly makes misrepresentations regarding alleged copyright infringement may be liable to ViaSat, the alleged infringer, and the affected copyright owner for any damages incurred in connection with the removal, blocking, or replacement of allegedly infringing material.

If a notification of claimed infringement has been filed against you, you may file a counter-notification with ViaSat's designated agent using the contact information shown above. Counter-notifications must satisfy the requirements of Section 512(c)(3) of the U.S. Copyright Act.
